MISSING CHAS. H. CUTTING.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF A YOUNG MAN BHO WAS ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.

Sever Henrd from Since the Day he Took Passage on a Sound Steamer Other Bland-perpares During the Year Just Closed -317 Persons who have Never been He-ported as Found-Many Names Withheld. On the 12th of September Last, Charles H. catting of Beston, a travelling salesman in the employ of Holder & Herrick of that city, was in New York settling up some business preparatory to his marriage to a Miss Gay of Castine, Me., which was to be at an early date. He took innelseon that afternoon in Man i lie Breoklyn with a freend, whom he told that Brooklyn with a friend, whom he told that he was going on to Boston that evening. That was at 3 o'clock. An hour later he called upon snother friend, G. H. Sanborn, at his office, 25 bestman street, and there also mentioned that he was going home that evening. At 5 o'clock he was seen on board in steamer Providence of the Providence and Stonington line when she left her wharf, by Mr. Spencer of Fitchburg, Mass., a personn! Mr. Spencer of Fitchburg, Mass., a personal ; acquaintance, met him; they took supper togother, and until after 9 o'clock sat up on deck, smoking. Then Mr. Spencer retired. The next morning Mr. Cutting was not to be found. His valise and overcont were in his stateroom. but be and the $3,810 he had in his pocket the might before had mysteriously disappeared. Since that time nothing has been seen or heard of Charles H. Cutting, and his Irlends believe that he was robbed and thrown overtourd. He is said to have been a young man of excellent habits, who neither gambled, drank, nor was hable to be entrapped by the fascinations which are among the ordinary incidents of a trip on the Sound steamers: his prespects in life were of the happiest kind, and there is hardly even a possibility of suicide in his case, certainly not the remotest probability of it.

Some years ago a young man named Cutting. down in Wall street, mysteriously disappeared, but there were circumstances connected with sis departure that prevented any very general suspicion that he was a victor of foul play. When the story of Charles H. Cutting's disappearance was made known here a rumor became current that he was a brother of the Wall street young man, and that disappearances "ran in the family." Inquiry among his friends here, however, failed to substantiate that story, ran in the family. Inquiry among his friends here, however, failed to substantiate that story. It was affirmed that he had only one brother, and he, it was thought, had never been in New York; certainly never was in business bere. The present indications are that C. H. Catting's fate will ever remain a mystery, with the dark state will ever remain a mystery, with the dark state will ever remain a mystery, with the dark state will ever remain a mystery, with the dark state will ever remain a mystery, with the dark state will ever remain a mystery, with the dark suspicion that he was the victim of a fearful crime on board the Sound both.

Police Superintendent Walling admits that the case of the young Rosten saleman does look pretty serious, but the less on of his bodg experience has been that men who have been lost are pretty liable to turn up again ultimately, and is slow to accent the conclusions at which anions friends are usually too ready to turn. In a conversation on the subject with a SUN reporter, he said:

"The public have little idea of the number of mysterious disappearances reported to us. They will average more than one a day in ordinary times, and occasionally they come in by latches. The year 1876, for instance was especially profile of them. We were constantly getting telegraphic despatches from all paris of the country. My boy has mysteriously disappearant. What is a stereotyped fermulae of reply in such cases: 'Look for him in Phandenhia,' Analysical Cook for him in Phandenhia,' Analysical Cook for him in Phandenhia, Analysical Cook fo

a necessity to aid in the work of tracing some one who does ready seem to have dropped mysteriously and suspicementy out of sight. In the other cases, such as I have mentioned, we simply enter ure Reported all right, and there is an end of it.

Our records necessarily show but a small percentage of the missing people as returned to the knowledge of their friends, for the simple reason that when the last once come home the excitement over their disappearance is at an end, and nobody cares to that the fromble to send us word that the search is over. Where we hear that a missing nan in the city has turned up again, we generally send to verify the report and enter so the facts, but even then we find the man disguisted with the fact of our knowing anything about it, and only anxious to keep it from the knowledge of everyloody cless. But the out-of-town cases, which are greatly in the majority, are rarely if ever, restorted to us belong the missing stage. Production of the missing men who are actually lost and never heard at again is only about one in a hundred. The proportion who turn up properties of their busing been last is about one-louritieyes, perhaps two chards. And the others, as I said, nearly also also to believe they are well as a finite and the others, as I said, nearly also as the same sexaggerated ideas on that subset. A great aumber of young girls disappear and merce but the fine of the properties of the internal from home. Probately one seventh of the entry number of disappears and control even the same are as they are generally found and taken home. Probately one seventh of the entry number of disappears and control even have exaggerated ideas on that subset. A great aumber of young girls disappear and merce but within twenty-four hours many they are harded and a first particles of such in patients, which are, as a rune, but yout failing disappear and interestion found in the nature of disappears and exercited in the missing from home. THE GREAT HAYDEN TRIAL.

THOROUGHLY SIFTING THE TESTIMONY OF MR, AND MRS. HAYDEN,

Born-Mary Stansard's Only Sister on the Stand-The Pastor of the Rockland Church Called as a Witness-Scenes in the Wood Lot. The forty-sixth day of the Hayden trial was very cold. The weather, however, did not decrease the throng in the court room. Mr. Hayden took his seat early, and perused a morning newspaper until the Sheriff opened court. His relatives were grouped at his side. Luzerne Stevens, who lives opposite the Hay-den house, was recalled. He testified that he had trimmed the syringa bush near his kitchen window before the day of the homicide, so that it would not interfers with the view from the window. It was from this window that Mr. Stevens's mother and sister say that they saw Mr. Hayden and Mary Stannard entering the barn on the afternoon preceding Mary's death.

is clearly Mrs. Hayden listened to the witness very attentively. Her testiment was a flat contradiction of Mr. Hayden, who averred that he was before a clear to see the fits one processing even in the cyster supports that time, and not it has even boune with Imogene Stammer and Charles Hawley.
